

	QUESTION	ANSWER
1	Regarding this eligibility criteria of the EDA Defence Innovation Prize: “Applicants that have already received any other Union prize that is the subject of the current contest cannot receive a second prize for the same activities” Could you give examples of other Union prize that would forbid applicants to submit a proposal?	As explained in the section 2.7.1 Eligibility Criteria of the Rules of the Contest that you properly quoted, if you have received for the same innovative proposal any other (European) Union prize, then the same idea is not eligible for this contest.
2	Could we get some clarification on the Assessment criteria 5, namely Implementation and Value for the Member States?	Section 2.7.4 of the Rules of Contest provides details on this criterion. It states that the proposal should demonstrate the potential to implement an innovative solution in order to maximize the value for the Member States. During the presentation, the Evaluation Committee will assess expected results for the Member States, work breakdown structure, project steps to be followed, tools and methodologies requirements, and potential added value to UE Defence Capabilities.
